The kettle for more than water:

WMF Lumero Multi-kettle

In time for IFA 2019, an innovative all-rounder is moving into the kitchen in the shape of the WMF Lumero Multi-kettle. The name says it all, as its versatile functions make it a real hero in the kitchen: From boiling water to preparing yoghurt to warming baby food, the multi-kettle can definitely do more than boil water. Its appearance, like the rest of the WMF Lumero range, is also very stylish thanks to its LED lighting and mix of glass and Cromargan® materials.

The WMF Lumero Multi-kettle can do nearly everything in its field and looks good at the same time. With five adjustable programmes for boiling water, preparing tea and yoghurt, heating food or melting chocolate (for a chocolate fondue, for example) and for heating baby food, it is a real all-rounder. With maximum power of 3000 Watts and capacity of 1.6 litres, the device can overcome all challenges in no time at all.

As is typical of WMF, the multi-kettle comes in a refined cloak of matt Cromargan® combined with WMF quality glass. The glass inset provided is used for warming food or baby food, melting chocolate or preparing yoghurt. A quality tea filter is also available.
